Recorder Ragtime Music Series

This series of sheet music is intended for recorder playing ragtime purists. No concessions have been made to the recorder i.e. all adaptations retain their original keys (look out for D-flat minor and E-flat minor!). Where Joplin, Lamb, Scott et al required fistfuls of notes, these have been distributed as divisi in the lower parts. The basic recorder quintet layout is treble and tenor for the melodic line whilst a second tenor, bass and great bass make up the rhythm section. On occasions, the first voice may be required additionally take up sopranino, descant or even a bass! Only rarely are voices doubled. A second bass can generally be substituted for the great bass although of course the notes below bottom F have either to be left out or played an octave higher. Notes below the compass of the great bass are also given for those fortunate ensembles having a contra bass in their "armoury".

Except where otherwise stated the items comprise small-type scores with full-type parts. Full- or large-type scores can be provided, please send for details. Bulk orders can be made at special rates.

Solos, Duos, Trios and Quartets: (A-, B-, C- and D-Series)

Commencing in July 2004, a selection of solo, duo, trio and quartet versions comprising new series of sheet music derived from the Recorder Ragtime Music Series described above are now available. Lacking the great bass and other voices, these pieces obviously do not have the same fullness of sound as the full versions. The recorder solo adaptations have been written especially with those recorder soloists in mind who want to fully enjoy the ragtime melodies without necessarily being a member of a recorder ensemble. The duo, trio and quartet recorder adaptations have been written with those smaller ensembles not having a great bass in mind especially to allow full enjoyment of the ragtime melodies. They retain all the original keys and scale ranges and are at least as demanding as the full versions. In these selected pieces, the first voice has the melody throughout (excepting for a few bars in some cases), the second/third voice generally accompanies the first in close harmony with the occasional rhythmic element whilst the third/fourth voice is fully occupied from start to finish. No bar counting here!
