Recorder Aviation Ragtime

Enjoy Your Flying With Recorder Aviation Ragtime

At the start of a new millennium, at the beginning of a fledgling space age it may be considered odd place the words "aviation" and "ragtime" within one phrase. The old ragtimers however had an enormous interest in aviation as reflected by scores of compositions directly involving balloons and aircraft. The oldest goes back even a further 100 years to 1803 at the height of the Napoleonic wars. The song in question Invasion by W. Repmah of Birmingham having a line boasting that Napoleons "Grand Balloon" would be fired on if it dared to cross the English Channel.

A quick look through our main catalogue and data base in response to an enquiry brought the aviation items given below to light. The items "on hold" generally be made available within 14 days at no extra cost - please enquire.
